NEW POINTS IN LAW.

Book That Will Be Interesting to Layman and Attorney.The first half of volume 65 of the Connecticut law reports is now out, and the following are some of the new points decided:In re-application of Clark. If town grand jurors, while holding a court of inquiry to see if there is ground for a criminal prosecution, ask a witness a proper question which he declines to answer, any justice of the peace can send him to jail till he does.Hopson's appeal. An appeal to the superior court from an order of the county commissioners, granting a liquor license, gives the court the same discretion which the commissioners had. It is not bound by the technical rules of evidence any more than they were.Security Co. vs. Pratt. A petition to remove a case from a state court to the United States circuit court must be filed in the state court as early as a plea in abatement would have to be filed there, whether there is any intention to file such a plea or not. Nor can the petition be amended in the state court, after that time has expired by bringing in any new ground for a removal. Suits to construe wills can be brought in the United States courts, as well as in the state courts, if they are between citizens of different states.Bissell vs. Dawson. It is not a right, but an privilege, to have children educated in the public schools, and the laws can attach any reasonable conditions to the exercise of it. Requiring children to be vaccinated is a reasonable condition, and one who refuses to submit to the operation can be excluded from school by the school board until he consents.Donovan vs. Hartford Street Railway company. A person about to board a street car does not become a passenger, until he either enters the company's premises or actually undertakes to enter the car. Signalling the car to stop for him does not give him a pas-senger's rights. If instead of stopping for him, they run him down in the street, by going on the wrong switch.Driscoll vs. Norwich and Worcester Railroad company. A lease of a railroad does not relieve the original owner from liability for future accidents to travelers using it unless the operating franchise is transferred, as well as the road, and the legislature consents to it.State vs. Lee. The Connecticut statute giving an appeal in favor of the state for errors in law resulting in the acquittal of the accused in a criminal case, whether capital or not, is valid.
No man is twice put in jeopardy by a second trial, when the first was so explicitly conducted as to be a material and require a new trial to satisfy public justice. The state has the same right as the criminal to demand that his trial shall be legally conducted, and no judgment is final, which the law allows to be reviewed for error in its rendition.State vs. Smith. This court is not bound in every criminal case to tell the jury that the accused is presumed to be innocent, until proved to be guilty. That presumption has no force as evidence. It simply settles the burden of proof. Nor need the court after telling the jury that they should acquit the defendant if he have a reasonable doubt of his guilt, proceed to explain what is such a "reasonable doubt." It sufficiently explains itself.This view of the presumption of innocence seems to differ from that taken by the supreme court of the United States in the case of Coffin vs.
United States 156 U. S. 432. When it is treated as an "instrument of proof," created by the law.State vs. Fetter. The judge in a criminal case has the right to tell the jury that if they find the facts to be so and so, the law is such that they ought to render a verdict of guilty. This is not directing a verdict. It leaves the facts to the jury, and only tells them what would be the proper legal conclusion from them, if they believe them to exist. A delivery and sales agent for a wholesale dealer is not a "tinner peddler," who requires a license from town selectmen.Croft vs. Danbury. Municipal corporations cannot offer rewards for the detection of criminals, without special authority from the legislature.

AN AGED COLORED WOMAN.

She Had Outlived All Her Fourteen Children.The funeral of Mrs. Charlotte Seward, who died at Springdale farm at the age of ninety, took place Saturday at 4 o'clock. Rev. A. H. Johnson of the Bethel M. E. church officiated. Services were held at Lewis & Maycock's undertaking room, and the burial was in Evergreen cemetery, where her husband and several of her children are buried.Mrs. Seward's husband, who was a veteran of the late war, died in 1870.
The couple had fourteen children, all of whom are dead, and S. O. Preston, who had been conservator for Mrs.
Seward, said that she had no relative living. She had outlived them all.

Sterling and Commonwealth lodges, A. O. U. W., will give a joint entertainment at the lodge rooms on Tuesday evening, July 30, at 8 o'clock. It will consist of humorous remarks and sketches, music, singing, mandolin club. Cigars, ice cream and cake will be served. The members are earnestly invited, as an unusually good time may be expected.

A Small Flood.

A pipe connecting with a house water tank on the seventh floor of the insurance building broke Saturday night and flooded the building through the floors. The prompt action of F. M.
Brown & Co.'s clerks, who armed with pails and brooms, turned the flood down the stairs, was the only thing that saved the dry goods department on the first floor. The extent of the damage is not known.

AT BRANFORD POINT.

Banquet to the Ladies of McIntyre & Co.'s.

The men clerks employed by Ewen nest effort on the part of all the young lady clerks to make any entertainment or outing given by the store a success, and to show their efforts are appreciated take this means to thank them.

at the hands of the Mayer, Strouss & Co. nine at the Savin Rock grounds Saturday afternoon. The game was called at the end of the seventh inning on account of rain. Fessenden, the Mayer, Strouss & Co.'s new pitcher, did nicely and was well supported.
Next week the Mayer, Strouss & Co. boys will play the famous Mt. Pleasant nine.

At the Edgewood baseball grounds Saturday afternoon the Milford in the third inning refused to abide by a decision of the umpire and left the field.
Smith, the umpire, declared the game forfeited to the Edgewoods by the score 9 to 8.The trouble happened as Young, the first man for Milford, came to bat in the third inning. He made a two bagger, and was caught at third on a throw from McHugh to Cameron. He jumped into Cameron and knocked the ball from his hand. The umpire called Young out for his act and the Milford refused to continue the game.The crowd howled at the visitors so as to get their money's worth, but the Milford declined to play longer.The score stood 4 to 2 in favor of the Edgewoods when the trouble occurred.In the first inning Sedgewick scored on Bone's two bagger, and Bone crossed the plate on Farham's three base hit.For Milford, Platt took first on Mc-Hugh's error and scored on Addis' two base hits. Adis was brought home on Platt's single.The Edgewood-Milford series is now a tie. The clubs will meet at Savin Rock next Friday, unless the Edgewoods refuse.

LOCAL NAVAL MILITIA.

They May Have the Monitor Wyandotte for a Cruising Craft.The members of the local naval militia, now that they find that the government will probably not be able to furnish them a man of war on which to cruise this year, are counting on the coming of the monitor Wyandotte within a week or so, as the secretary of the navy is making preparations to have the monitor towed to this point, where she will remain as a vessel for the particular use of the local tars.The scheme is to use the Wyandotte as a cruising craft. The leading members of the local naval militia are engaged in it and are hopeful of success.Their idea is to have the state equip the Wyandotte with engineers to run her machinery, and then the monitor may sail away of her own accord.Her engine is in good shape, and so is her other propelling machinery, and if some one is hired to attend to her mechanical parts, she can go just as good a craft for the cruise.It is believed that the scheme will go through, and that if Admiral Buncie, of the north Atlantic squadron, can find no cruiser available for local sailors to cruise on, the Wyandotte will fill in nicely.

Clearing House.

The board of education has taken advantage of the summer vacation and has been doing a little house cleaning.The carpets at the board's rooms on Center street have all been taken up and sent to a cleaner. The books and papers have been moved and dusted, and the shelves thoroughly cleaned and repacked. The walls have received a new coat of paint.

sentence to death by electrocution in New York. Over 700 signatures have been obtained in this city.

SUNDAY AT THE WEST SHORE

TEN THOUSAND PERSONS ENJOYED ITS COOL BRIZZEN.Sacred Concert at Railroad Grove—Gospel Services on the Shore Front—Events of the Coming Week—Special Town Meeting to be Held Wednesday Afternoon.Yesterday was an ideal day at the west shore and fully ten thousand took advantage of the clear, bracing weather and made an enjoyable visit to Savin Rock, the Coney Island of Connecticut.Here all the varied amusements were running in full blast and the several proprietors were apparently doing a lucrative business. The cars of the Winchester avenue system were crowded during the afternoon and early evening
